City Buildings Re-opening...

COVID-19 UPDATE

After nearly three months of the public buildings being closed to the public, the Thurber Building and The Chatfield Public Library will be reopening for in-person business if necessary. The continued use of technology is highly encouraged when possible. That being said, if an in-person visit is necessary, things will look and feel a little different in the buildings due to safety precautions.

Visitors will notice new COVID-19 signage and protective measures in place to help ensure physical distancing guidelines are being followed. Anyone visiting is requested to follow health and safety guidelines and keep their distance (6 feet) from employees and other visitors. Anyone visiting the city buildings is encouraged to wear a face covering for the protection of others. A cautious approach is being taken to protect the health and safety of employees and the community.

As previously mentioned the continued use of technology is encouraged to contact city staff (e-mail or telephone) as is the use of digital tools available on the city website for services that can be provided without an in-person visit. A drop box for paperwork is available outside the alley entrance at the Thurber Building.

Please be patient with us as we reopen. We understand this isn't the ideal way to interact but our employees and our community's safety and well-being is our highest priority.

THURBER BUILDING | CITY HALL

Public access will be limited to the front counters, conference rooms, and designated public restrooms. Gatherings / meetings are limited to 10 or less.

CHATFIELD PUBLIC LIBRARY

The entire time the library has been closed, construction and renovation have been underway there! The project is getting closer to completion. We hope to share details about plans for slowly opening soon! Please expect that procedures will be different once the library does open. The library is an extremely "high-touch" place and experts agree that the less time you spend in such surroundings, the safer you will be. We usually want nothing more than to encourage you to linger, relax, and enjoy the library...now we find ourselves needing to consider the best ways to get you in and out as quickly as possible! Regardless of how quick your visit will need to be, we look forward to inviting you into the library again soon. Curbside delivery of materials is working wonderfully and will continue. Imagine a different way of participating in the Summer Programs at the Chatfield Public Library!

Since live performances are not an option this summer, make sure to check out our Summer Program virtual programs.

As they become available, you will find links to fun programs from the National Eagle Center, Science Tellers, the Jolly Pops, and a 3 part kayaking adventure down the Mississippi from Doug Ohman on our facebook page and website. Most of these programs are made possible with money from Minnesota's Arts and Cultural Heritage Fund and the people of Minnesota for Library Legacy activities.

Since live storytime is not an option either, watch for periodic links to online storytime-like programs and activity ideas on our social media. And don't forget to read!
